

IDDSI: Pureed [Level 4]

Diet prescribed by your provider

Overview:

- These foods are typically eaten with a spoon and do not require any chewing. The consistency should be smooth and pudding-like consistency.
- Replaces the NDD Pureed Diet.
- No lumps in food and should not be sticky.
- Testing Methods: appearance, spoon tilt test and fork drip test

Why:

- Pureed diet is for patients who have severe cases of dysphagia (difficulty swallowing) or cannot chew foods.
- This diet is helpful to prevent aspiration (when food/liquid goes into the lungs).
- Best Practice: Use of pureed molds!
